CAPTAINS CHOSEN

ONE MAN IN CHARGE OF LIQUOR FIGHT IN EACH WARD.

DR. WOODS SPEAKS

Tells Audience of Experiences in Speaking For Prohibition—H. W. Hull Gives Address.

Arrangements for the waging of the dry campaign in Maryville today were made by the Protestant brotherhoods at their meeting at the Baptist church last night. Captains were appointed for the four wards, and these men are in charge of the dry forces today. In the first ward Herman Hull was appointed, in the second Ed Tebow, in the third Henry Thorp, and in the fourth Ed McDonald.

Over one hundred voters attended the chicken pie dinner given in the basement of the Baptist church preceding the meeting of the brotherhoods. The dinner was prepared and served under the efficient direction and leadership of Mrs. J. A. Speer, president of the Aid society of the church.

H. W. Hull, president of the County Anti-Saloon League, gave the opening talk at the meeting. He said that when Maryville voted four years ago to retain the saloons the county was disappointed in her, as those actively engaged in the campaign will remember. However, when she decided by an overwhelming vote to cast out the demon of the saloon they rejoiced. Many people had said that Maryville must choose between the Normal school and the saloon. She chose the institution which uplifts and destroyed the one which degrades. Now the school is growing, and ranks among the leading schools of the state.

Mr. Hull then introduced the Rev. Cox, who said: "You have me with you always, and as Dr. Woods is full of his subject, I take pleasure in presenting Dr. Woods, pastor of the White Memorial Temple of St. Joseph.

Dr. Woods said: "I wish I were speaking to a group of boozers. In California during the fight there some time ago addressed several audiences in the wet cities. The places picked for my addresses were invariably churches. At one place I succeeded in prevailing upon the committee to permit me to speak on the street corner in the business district. I felt as if I did a great deal of good there.

"I came not to talk politics. Many of you remember the time when there were many who thought heaven was not intended for those of the other party. The difference between the two parties is about as much as there was between Lucy and Mary in the eyes of a negro. A darkey secured a license to marry. Before leaving the court house he read it over and came back to the clerk and said: 'This license is to marry Lucy. I want to marry Mary.' He was told that it would cost him twenty-five cents to have it changed. He scratched his head and said, 'I don't believe there am that much difference between them girls any way.'

"One man told me that he was going to vote for the man with whiskers. I care not for whiskers or no whiskers. What concerns me is whisky or no whisky."

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Linneman of Conception were Maryville visitors Sunday.

A very heavy vote is being polled at the election today in Maryville. The voting started early and has practically kept up all during the day. The polls are to close at 7 o'clock this evening.

From incomplete reports received this afternoon from the precincts in Maryville, Elmer Moberly for sheriff was in the lead in three of the places, and Dowden slightly in the lead in the first ward.

The Democratic national ticket is also running ahead here, as it is all over the county.

Pickering reported at 2 o'clock this afternoon that Wilson and Moberly were running ahead of their ticket in that precinct.

Reports from over the county indicate a big early vote, and some per cent of their total vote polled. At Parnell and Hopkins George Hepburn for county judge of the north district scratching on the county ticket. Jackson township reported about 75 to 80 is leading the Democratic ticket.

The race between Elmer C. Moberly and John Dowden is a close one, as is also the race between William G. Sawyers and J. H. Sayler over the county. However, reports received of the early returns it is predicted that both will be elected.

Many Independents and Republicans are voting for Wilson and some of these voted the straight Democratic ticket, while others scratched a few on the state and county tickets.

The crew on Wabash train No. 11, due here at 6 o'clock this morning, voted in Maryville. They are residents of Moberly. They all voted for Wilson.

At Conception Junction many of the engine and train crew of the Chicago Great Western, at their division point there, voted this morning, and every one of them voted for Wilson. ## NATION IS VOTING

BOTH DEMOCRATS AND REPUBLICANS HOPE TO WIN.

EARLY BALLOTING DONE

Campaign Managers in Both Parties Claim Most Votes in Electoral College.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

New York, Nov. 7.—The jury is arriving at its verdict in every state in the Union today, and the Wilson administration is being passed on by the supreme tribunal—the public. This decision will determine whether there will be a continuance of power in the nation by the Democrats, headed by Wilson, or whether Republicanism will take its place headed by Hughes.

The reports from the Republican and Democratic headquarters emphasize great interest in the result in every section of the country. According to the last words of Willcox, Hughes' campaign maagner, the G. O. P. candidate will have at least 100 votes to spare in the electoral college. McCormick, Wilson's campaign manager, says that late reports from the west indicate that Hughes was given too many votes when it alloted him seventy in the electoral college. He ended by saying: "We are going to carry every one of the so-called doubtful states."

The first sixteen precincts in Wichita, Kan., incomplete returns gave Wilson 880 and Hughes 415. Twenty-five incomplete precincts in Topeka give Hughes 1,792 and Wilson 1,172. Nine incomplete precincts in Kansas City, Kan., give Hughes 378 and Wilson 239.

Strenuous Campaign in Kansas.

Topeka, Nov. 7.—One of the most strenuous campaigns in the history of Kansas ended today and a record vote is looked for. It will probably reach 650,000. The women who are casting their first presidential vote are turning out in large numbers. Both sides are claiming victory.

Indiana in Doubt.

Indianapolis, Nov. 7.—With two candidates for vice president and one for president from this state and the election of two senators in the balance, the leaders predict that the vote of 650,000 in 1912 will be exceeded. The state will be doubtful until the final count.

Charge Election Frauds.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The charge of having sums of money sent to Cincinnati to be used in helping the Republican ticket at the pols was made in a statement issued today by the Democratic party.

NATIONAL PARK HIGHWAY OPEN

Short Line Connection to the Pacific Coast.

ENTERS THE YELLOWSTONE.

The Roadway Is Termed the Salt Lake-Yellowstone Highway and Connects With the Lincoln Highway, Midland Trail and Pike's Route to the Pacific Coast—Built on a Water Grade.

A direct, short line connection, termed the Salt Lake-Yellowstone highway, between the Lincoln highway, Midland trail and Pike's route to the Pacific coast, at Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah, the Yellowstone National park and all points in northwestern United States, is now open to auto traffic.

The highway is built on a water grade and passes between the Wasatch range and the Great Salt lake in Utah, northerly through the Cache, Malad and Bear lake valleys in Idaho, to Pocatello, Ida. The Idaho-Pacific or Oregon trail branches at this point northwesterly through the watershed of the Snake and Columbia rivers to Spokane, Seattle and coast points. From Pocatello north to Yellowstone park the highway traverses the upper Snake river valley on the same water grade over the Captain Bonneville trail to a point near the western border of the park and then skirts the park to the western entrance at Yellowstone, Mont.

Approximately $5,000,000 has been spent in the construction of the highway. A larger number of small road associations have been working for the past eight years toward its completion. Several years ago it has designated a part of a joint system of state highways by the highway commissions of Utah and Idaho and the major part of the construction work achieved with state and county aid. Early in 1916 these smaller organizations met with the county commissioners along the route and the two state highway commissions and formed the Utah-Idaho-Yellowstone Highway association for the state purpose of completing a few unfinished sections, doing general repair work, shortening the route in several localities, making the highway from the Great Salt lake to Yellowstone park first class and continuous for use this year and maintaining and patrolling it throughout the season.

The Salt Lake-Yellowstone highway not only furnishes an outlet for park bound traffic of the Lincoln highway, Pike's peak route and Midland trail from California and eastern United States at Salt Lake and Ogden and for traffic off the northern route into the park and out of the Yellowstone entrance bound for the northwest (branching at Pocatello, Ida.) and California and eastern points via Ogden and Salt Lake, but it is the only direct north and south connection between these central western and northern routes in the Rocky mountain region.

All of the beautiful scenic mountainous sections of Utah and Idaho lying contiguous to the Yellowstone National park are reached by this main highway and auxiliaries.

It also serves as the main trunk highway and basis of a general scheme of connecting county road systems in the seventeen counties of the two states along the route.

NATIONAL ROAD CONGRESS.

A. A. A. Chairman Says Time Is Ripe. For Meet at Washington.

"Unquestionably the time has arrived for a great national road congress to be held once a year in the national capital under federal government direction," asserts George C. Diehl, chairman of the good roads board of the American Automobile association.

"This gathering in Washington would be under the auspices of the United States office of public roads and rural engineering of the department of agriculture, and the event could be made comprehensive in its scope. There could be a complete exhibit of road machinery and road materials; there could be sample construction of various kinds of highways; road schools could be conducted for state, county and town engineers, and various technical phases of the work could be set forth by trained experts.

"Then there would come the interrelated phases of road travel and road transportation. Undoubtedly the department of the interior, because of its national parks, would set forth the scenic attractions which are under government supervision. Various states would be given opportunity of advertising their attractions. All around, an assemblage could be brought about which would prove exceedingly effective."

A Boomerang.

That bad roads constitute a strong argument for good roads is illustrated by the following item from the Mound City (Kan.) Sentinel: "C. A. Stites of Parlinville, in Linn county, Kan., called a mass meeting of those opposed to rock roads, and only sixteen attended. In a published statement why the crowd was so small Mr. Stites stated that it was 'on account of the rain and bad roads.'"

RIGHT AND WRONG WAY.

The right way to build roads is to build them so good that they last.

The wrong way is to build them apparently good and waste money in constant repair.

The right way produces a road which is always fit for service.

The wrong way not only requires constant expenditure for upkeep, but gives a road that is not fit for use for a long period previous to the actual making of repairs.

Roads built the right way require small cost for maintenance and permit the use of funds for new work.

Maintenance, the heaviest expense with the wrong kind of road, has been built into the road.

Roads built the wrong way quickly reach a point where all available funds for road work are constantly needed for maintenance and repairs.

The right way makes the road tax productive. It satisfies those who pay and those who use.

The wrong way antagonizes both.

WANING OF THE HORSE.

Dr. Rowe Predicts Its Practical Disappearance From Roads In Ten Years.

"Another ten years will see national road systems covering every section of the country—the greatest practical step in the direction of preparedness that could be made," says Dr. H. M. Rowe, the newly elected president of the American Automobile association.

"In a decade we shall begin to have separate roads for freight traffic and passenger traffic, and the horse and mule will have practically disappeared. Our present highways will be greatly multiplied and largely increased in width and improved in quality. No other country on the face of the earth can make such good and profitable use of good roads as the United States of America. We will eventually excel in that as we do in many other things. There have been wonderful changes in all matters relating to transportation since the introduction of the motorcar, but there are still greater things to come.

"We have worked for good roads for the reason that they are of equal economic benefit in the final analysis to all, and it is only just and right that the people of our country should have the advantages to which they are entitled. We have worked for unrestricted intercourse between the states through the use of motorcars, because that is a constitutional right that has been denied us. We have asked for equal taxation. That is another constitutional right that has been set aside, partly because we submitted to it willingly, I admit, but it is an injustice and constitutes unfair treatment just the same.

"In addition, the owners of motorcars are being subjected to all sorts of petty annoyances—special taxes, licenses and rules and regulations regarding traffic, use of lights and many restrictions, seldom alike in two places, and which subject decent men and women to arrest and conviction, often for the most trivial reasons. Much has been accomplished, it is true, but there yet remains much to be accomplished before it can be truthfully said that the owner of a motorcar is not subjected to annoyances and unfair treatment which is not visited upon those who employe other road vehicles."

Device Measures Road Wear.

To the casual bystander the mixing of all concrete may seem to be the same process repeated over and over again according to the same formula. This is not so, however, as different proportions of ingredients are used for the different purposes which the finished product must serve. Particularly is this so in the case of concrete roads. To determine the durability of this or that mixture in actual service engineers have devised apparatus by which the wear on a concrete road surface from year to year can be determined to 1-1,000 of an inch. The device is described in the Engineering Record. The results of such tests will not improve the condition of the particular road on which they are made, but they will indicate how better roads may be built in the future.

Ohio Road Making.

The Ohio highway commission has awarded contracts for the improvement of 267 miles of highway. With these contracts the amount of road work awarded reaches $4,000,000.

BARNARD TO HAVE A BAND.

One Organized for That Town This Week—L. B. Campbell, George Cole and Leon Severs in Charge.

NEW WHEAT PEST

WESTERN CABBAGE FLEA BEETLE VERY DESTRUCTIVE.

IN MANY WHEAT FIELDS

What the College of Agriculture at Columbia Says About It and What to Do.

During the past month inquiries have been received from certain parts of the state relative to a small dark colored beetle that has been ruining the winter wheat quite extensively. Upon examination of the specimens submitted, the insect pest has been identified as one which has never before been known to attack wheat in damaging numbers. The insect is the so called western cabbage flea beetle. It gets the name of "flea beetle" due to its habits of jumping like a flea when it is disturbed.

There are many kinds of these minute insects, some being striped, others being mottled in color, while still others are uniform in color. Some are known to attack cabbage and allied plants, such as radish, wild mustard, turnip, kale, etc., while others feed upon potato, tobacco, tomato, bull nettle, and still others attack certain grasses and many of our garden vegetables.

The western cabbage flea beetle, as its name implies, is almost always a cabbage feeder and is quite common from the Dakotas southward to Mexico and westward to California. Due to certain climatic conditions, the pest may, however, feed upon other plants. More than likely the recent heavy frosts, having wilted the leaves of the common food plants, have caused many of the flea beetles to forsake their most desired food plants and to subsist upon any green succulent food, such as growing wheat, grasses, etc. Undoubtedly this is the cause for the new habits seemingly acquired by this insignificant little beetle. The small beetles are a deep olive green or metallic black color and measure about two millimeters, or about .07 of an inch long. The larvae of all these flea beetles injure the roots, or in certain cases the leaves of the host plants. The damage done in this way is not very great, for most of them in their larval or immature stage work on the roots of weeds and grasses. In the adult or beetle stage, however, they do great damage at times, as recently shown in a number of letters of inquiry.

The following quotation from a letter shows the serious nature of the attack. "These insects are destroying my wheat and I doubt if I can save one field of thirty acres. The insect started on the side of the wheat field next to the corn, after the frost destroyed the corn and they have entirely destroyed the wheat in a strip about fifty feet wide, extending entirely across the field. They do not leave a stalk of wheat standing, the blades dying and the roots soon disappear." From this can be easily seen that the farmers have in this little insect a very formidable enemy, and one which is quite abundant just now.

The general practice used against the adult insects is to spray the cabbage, potato, etc., with a Bordeaux mixture, using the formula 5-5-50 and about 100 gallons per acre. The Bordeaux mixture acts as a repellant toward the flea beetles, causing them to seek unsprayed plants which would be weeds, grasses, etc. In cases where garden flea beetles are abundant, adding about one-half pound of Paris green or two pounds of arsenate of lead to fifty gallons of water will make the spray not only a repellant but a destroyer. In the present case, however, it is a question whether such procedure should be advocated before certain other measures are tried.

The first thing to do is to inspect wheat fields to see if this new pest is present. If so, and the beetles are injuring the plants, purchase some air slacked lime and dust this on the wheat plants, especially well around the borders of the infested area. This is done preferably after a rain or when the dew is still on the leaves. This will do much toward preventing the insects from attacking the remaining wheat plants and will drive them onto grasses and weeds around the borders of the field. If the acreage is not too large, by all means dust the entire field with the lime to which may be added poison at the rate of about one-half pound of Paris green or one pound of arsenate of lead to a bushel of air slacked lime. Apply by sifting through a coarse gunny sack. During the winter and early spring clean culture, which consists of the destruction of weeds, grass in fence corners and around the field and the proper disposal of waste material will aid materially in reducing the number of hibernating adults with subsequent fewer individuals to start the next season. Act at once to prevent further loss.—A. H. Hollinger, Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station.

Obituary.

Ella (Brown) Coulter was born Feb. 19, 1873, in the state of Ohio, and departed this life Oct. 16, 1916, at 7:45 p. m., at her home, 4 miles northeast of Arkoe, Mo.; aged 43 years, 7 months and 27 days.

She came to this state at the age of 8, in company with her parents, and the most of her life since that time was lived in the vicinity of Arkoe.

On Dec. 21, 1891, she was united in marriage to C. E. Coulter, and to this union were born five children, one of whom passed away in infancy.

The children who remain to share the sadness of the home with the father and husband are Lota, Edna, Anna and Fred. The other relatives are three sisters and one brother, Mrs. Lucy Divine, Council Bluffs, Ia.; Mrs. Carrie Mickelson, and Mrs. Ruth Meeker, both of Conception Junction, Mo., and M. A. Brown of near Maryville.

Sister Coulter was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal church about thirteen years ago; and since that time her faith in the Christ was evidenced by the life she tried to live.

The church, the community in which she lived, the home from which she was taken, will all miss the noble character. But may God keep us all by His divine grace until the day of our crowning.

The funeral services were conducted by the writer Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 11 a. m., from the Swinford church. The large congregation of sympathetic friends evidenced the high esteem in which the deceased was held by the people of the community.

The body was laid to rest in the Swinford cemetery.

Pastor Barnard M. E. Church.

New Treads on Old Auto Tires Making Them as Good as New at half
THE COST

OUR TREADS AND METHOD OF APPLYING THEM IS DIFFERENT AND BETTER THAN ANY OTHER.

An old casing with one of our new treads looks exactly like a new tire; it is very little, if any, heavier than a new tire, as we strip off all the old rubber before the new tread is applied.

Ours is the only method that strengthens the old tire. Others may put the same amount of rubber on the tread, but they do not strengthen the old casing.

There is no strength to rubber—it is merely a wearing surface.

Our treads are made up in the same shape as a new tire—they look like a new tire without the rim.

Three plys of No. 1 fabric, and the same amount of quality and rubber is used that you get on a new tire of the best grade.

We cement and stitch this new tread to any old casing that is not rim-cut, no matter if the tread is blown out or worn clear through in some places.

The stitching is done within ⅞ of an inch to 1¾ inches of the Bead, where the fabric is always good.

Blowouts cannot occur above this stitching, no matter if the old casing has weak fabric on or near the tread—the 3-plys of new fabric sewed on below the weak points prevents any chance of blowouts.

The awl used on our machine does not cut the fabric. It is made perfectly round and has a sharp tapered point which merely spreads the fabric apart in making a hole for the thread.

We Guarantee to replace, free of charge, any tire we retread that blows out along the seams.

We cover the stitches inside and out—you cannot see them on the outside—a liner is put inside to make a perfectly smooth surface for the inner tube.

Punctures are practically eliminated on tires that have our new treads. There are three extra plys of fabric. And also, a nail that would go through a solid substance of equal thickness will usually only go through the new tread and glance or bend when it strikes the fabric of the old tire.

Our treads cost you about one-half the price of a new tire.

We guarantee the new treads for 3,000 miles under the same conditions that all standard tires are guaranteed.

We also do Double Treading—taking two old tires and making one good one—charging only a fraction of the cost of new tires.

We quote prices here for new treads on only a few sizes. When in town get one of our booklets, which gives prices on all our work.

SAFETY COURTESY SERVICE

—"That Which You Save Today is Your Future Prosperity"

It is not so much what you make as what you save. Some of the highest paid, and those with the greatest income, often die in comparative poverty, while on the other hand, it is not unusual for many who have never received a large income to leave a fortune.

This difference can be attributed to one thing. And that is that the one who accumulates a fortune has learned the power of saving—saving even a small amount, but keeping at it.

If you are one of those who have neglected to save, start right now. Just the small amounts that you would ordinarily consider too small if deposited regularly, will ultimately grow large.

Saving is easy. Just the attraction of seeing that little deposit grow larger will keep you at it until you have a fortune which is really worth while.

We'll tell you how.

Psychology of Laughter.

In his book, "A Raw Youth," Dostoevsky has a page on laughter, which he regards as the surest test of the heart, and suggests that a girl may well choose her husband (when in doubt) by the quality of his laugh, which will be a symptom of his nature, for to know how to laugh is a gift. "A man will sometimes give himself away completely by his laugh, and you suddenly know him through and through." Most essential in good laughter is sincerity and freedom from malice. A sincere laugh, free from malice, is gayety.

"A man's gayety is what most betrays the whole man from head to foot. Sometimes one will be for a long time unable to read a character, but if the man begins to laugh his whole character will suddenly lie open before you. And so if you want to see into a man and to understand his soul don't concentrate your attention on the way he talks or is silent, on his tears or the emotion he displays over exalted ideas. You will see through him better when he laughs."

Story of a Faithful Dog.

Animals, and especially dogs, can be most sincere mourners. Near Greyfriars church, Edinburgh, stands the statue of a dog bearing this inscription:

GREYFRIARS BOBBY.
From the life, just before his death.
A TRIBUTE
To the affectionate fidelity of
GREYFRIARS BOBBY.
In 1858 this faithful dog followed the remains of his master to Greyfriars Churchyard, and lingered near the spot until his death in 1872.
Erected by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts 1872.

Think of it! Fourteen years! In the winter Bobby lay under a flat tombstone for shelter, and he was found dead on his master's grave one morning after having waited patiently for fourteen long years. Surely a remarkable instance of animal fidelity.

Meaning of the Motto.

Young Canfield was a household decorator, and one day he was called to the country home of an eccentric man, father of a large and interesting family of daughters.

One of the daughters acted as his guide through the house that he might give an estimate for decoration. His attention was caught by a motto, framed and prominently displayed over the door of the room of each girl, which read:

"Learn to Say Yes."

"Would you mind," asked the young man, "telling me what that motto means?"

"Oh," exclaimed the young woman, with a blush, "that's one of father's ideas. There are ten of us girls, you know."—National Monthly.

A Game of Catch.

Somebody once twitted John Graham on the way David Dudley Field and he were drifting apart, he remaining in the harness as a criminal lawyer, while Field was selected by his state for the duty of codifying her laws.

"It is simply a game of catch between Field and myself," he answered. "He tries to put up as many bars as possible, all uniformly strong. Then I go around and try them and see how many weak ones I can find."

"Which beats, Mr. Graham?" he was asked.

"Oh, I think I do in the long run," he responded. "Field never succeeded in keeping me out as many times as I have succeeded in breaking in."

A New One on Him.

It was after the stone laying ceremony, and a wire was sent to the builder with the news, "Stone laid with great eclat." The builder, smothering an awful oath, muttered, "Another new foreign cement!" and flung the missive from him in passionate disgust.—London Globe.

A Single Exception.

"Do you think a memory for dates helps a man?"

"Sometimes," replied Farmer Corntassel. "But not when he is selling spring chickens."—Washington Star.

Equality.

Sillicus—Then you don't believe that all men are born equal? Cynicus—Certainly I do—till they try to prove it.—Exchange.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Helping Nature.

The skin does more than act as a covering for the body. It is one of the principal organs for throwing off waste which the body is constantly forming just as fire forms ashes in the process of burning.

The kidneys and the liver, the lungs and the skin all co-operate to get this waste out of the system.

In the case of the skin there are millions of little pockets called sweat glands which have this work to do, for sweat is nothing more than a watery extract of the waste products of the body.

By living moderately, eating sparingly of meat and drinking plenty of water one makes it easy for the system to throw off waste matter, and thus overstrain on these organs is prevented. By drinking plenty of water especially the digestive apparatus and the kidneys are kept in such condition as to avoid many of the troubles of later life.

MOTHER LOVE AIDS SON IN TRENCHES

It Brings Relief to Boy Standing His Watch Deep in Mud.

Once upon a time, only a few months after this terrible world war had begun, Private Bailey, a soldier in the ranks had stood for days in the trenches "somewhere in France." The cold rains soaked him to the skin; the mud was deep. He had had no rest. Weary and aching with rheumatic pains, he recalled the faith his mother had in Sloan's Liniment. He asked for it in his next letter home. A large bottle was immediately sent him and a few applications killed the pain, once more he was able to stand the severe exposure. He shared this wonderful muscle soother with his comrades, and they all agreed it was the greatest "reinforcement" that had ever come to their rescue. At your druggist, 25c, 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

KANSAS CITY STOCK LETTER.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Nov. 6.—The strength shown on killing cattle last week held good today, sales strong to 15c higher, stockers and feeders barely steady, receipts 23,500 cattle and 2,000 calves. Hogs sold 10c higher to order buyers, but packers kept up their fight and refused to pay more than steady prices. Sheep and lambs sold steady.

Beef cattle—The prime steer market has not been tested for a week, but the right kind would sell up to $11.25. Short feds were the best here today, several sales at $9.25 to $9.65, medium kinds around $8.50. Good weight Oklahoma and Kansas grass steers sold up to $7.90, and Colorado beef steers weighing 975 to 1,060 sold at $7.10 to $7.50. The tendency is stronger on beef steers, which got the full advance today, as killers fear a drop in the supply within the next few weeks. Medium to good cows sold strong, at $5.75 to $7.00, canners in larger supply but steady at $4.35 to $4.85. Local packers have been shipping in large numbers of cheap cattle to kill at their plants here, which they bought at lower prices than prevail here at St. Louis, Chicago and St. Paul.

Stockers and feeders—The market closed off 25 cents last week, with a fair number held over. Best kinds sold steady today, strings of yearlings from the district around Hereford, Texas, selling at $7.25 to $7.40, some pretty good Colorado yearlings at $7.15, medium yearlings $6.25 to $6.75, feeders mostly at $6.85 to $7.75, fleshy feeders up to $8.50. New Mexico yearling stock heifers sold at $7.75, stock cows $5.25 to $6.50.

Hogs—The market closed last week in a demoralized condition, but the opening was strong, early sales 10c higher, top $9.65, bulk of sales $9.15 to $9.60, receipts 11,000. Receipts were liberal at all points last week and packers saw a chance to begin their winter packing season on a reduced price basis, hence their stiff fight for lower prices. Whether or not this break will stick depends on volume of receipts. Total supply at the five leading markets today is 78,000, as compared with 101,000 last Monday, and if the country can keep up that kind of regulation of the receipts, for a little while the market will doubtless regain recent losses.

Sheep and lambs—The supply of 7,000 head contained nothing choice, fair to good lambs selling at $10.90 to $11.05, with the added advantage to sellers that fills were good. A few native lambs sell up to $11, and fat ewes are worth $7 to $7.35. A few short fed lambs are coming, not very well finished, and selling at $10.50 to $10.75, money making prices for feeders. The first storm will bring in a good run out of corn fields, which might cause a temporary break, hence it might be wise to ship before the first storm comes. Feeding lambs bring $9.35 to $9.75, choice light feeders up to $10.

TAXES ARE NOW DUE.

My office will be located in the city hall. Come at once and settle and avoid the rush. L. C. GANN, Township Collector.
